

RECEIVED
CENTRAL FAX CENTER*NOV 06 2006*Restriction Requirement

The Examiner has indicated that all of the pending claims are withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. Applicants provisionally elect the originally submitted claims with traverse.

The restriction requirement is traversed as explained herein. The original claims were directed to a "radio active signal" as an example. The currently pending claims that the Examiner has withdrawn are directed to a "radio active signal including a packet, the packet including..." The amended recitation is a further limitation of the original recitation. The amended claims include everything that was recited in the original claims but are narrower. This is similar to a dependent claim that is directed to the same invention as the independent claim to which it refers.

The Examiner has suggested that the specification has a "signal" embodiment and a "packet" embodiment and that the originally filed claims were directed to the "signal" embodiment. Applicants respectfully submit that the specification refers to all embodiments as a "radio active signal" and that this terminology (see e.g. paragraph 23) is used to encompass a packet form, a packet with interrupt form, and (paragraph 27) a hardware signal, among others. The amendment of the claims from "radio active signal" to "radio active packet" was intended to be a narrowing of the claims as the terminology has been used in the specification. The reframing of this limitation as "a radio active signal including a packet" makes this usage clear. The Examiner cannot require restriction based on a mistaken original reading of the application.
